WHERE IS NELLIE TWOMBLEY?

Perhaps Mr. Hollingsworth, of Mt. Paul, Can Tell

CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—Mrs. Nellie Twombley, a widow, twenty-eight years old, pretty and wealthy, has been missing since Thursday. She came from Denver three weeks ago. The people at her boarding-house fear that she has been robbed and murdered, as she usually carried plenty of money and were about $3,000 worth o

Last Wednesday afternoon a man from St. Paul called on her and was introduced to the family as Mr. Hollingsworth, an old friend. Thursday morning he called again and Mrs.

Thursday morning he called again and Mrs. Twombley went away with him, saying that they were going to the Litby I rison and to call on Miss Mary Burke, daughter of Deputy Sheriff Burke. That was the last seen of Mrs. Twombley. It has since been learned that she did not reach the Burke residence.

That she did not intend to stay away any length of time is shown by the fact that a small cape was the only wrap she wore, though she had an extensive and elegant wardrobe. At her boarding-house she left two large trunks filled with valuable effects. At the time of her departings are wore a diamond ring and a diamond breatpin and earrings.

All of Mrs. Twombley's friends and ac-

All of Mrs. Twomblay's friends and accomaintances speak of her most highly and say she is a woman of sound common sense and unquestioned character. No one seems to know anything of her St. Pant triend.
